

CSMRC NEWS November 2007

CSMRC Equipment: Our unit backpacks, blankets and emergency supplies for MRC volunteers have arrived. If you can volunteer some time in the office to help pack the bags with the supplies in our office, please let Kathie Vito know by e-mail kvito@cshealth.org

Office Help: We also need volunteers to stuff envelopes for the Pandemic Flu DVD produced by the Cumberland Salem Health Department. This can be done at either county health department office. Please contact Kathie Vito or Robin Priggemeier if you can help.

CSMRC training: It is very important that volunteers complete the training modules. Our goal is to get all registered applicants approved and training completed by January 2008. Please remember to check NJLMN for courses as scheduled. These are free and many provide CEU's for physicians and nurses.

Note for our nurse CSMRC volunteers: Do you need a few more CEU's for licensure renewal? Try <http://www.nnepi.org> for many topics of special interest to hospital nurses, school nurses, home care nurses, nurses who work in skilled nursing homes, occupational health nurses and those who work in ambulatory care. Most are free as the project was funded by a grant to George Washington University from the Department of Homeland Security for a national nurse emergency preparedness initiative.

Fall 2007 Flu: Our two county flu clinics are in progress!
Please go to www.cshealth.org to view the clinic schedules for both counties. There some clinics yet to be held in November and December. Please e-mail kvito@cshealth.org of your interest to participate.

Office Move: The office of the CSMRC will move to a new location on Broadway in Salem when the Cumberland\Salem Office of Public Health Preparedness and Response also moves out of the old courthouse on Broadway and Market St. The mailing address, phone numbers and e-mail addresses will remain the same.

Thanks to Tracy Swartz, RN who assisted with the drive through flu clinic in Millville this year. Tracy is a volunteer with the CSMRC She has also been doing a student fieldwork experience with the MRC as part of requirements for her BSN from Wilmington College. Tracy assisted with planning and site training as 20 Cumberland County College nursing students came that day to work with health department staff for this event. Tracy is herself a graduate of the nursing program at Cumberland County College.

Thanks to Joe Freeman who assisted us with some office work.
